

Network Functionality

The GPS Golf Simulator has been further enhanced with the ability, to network any number of golf simulators. Indoor Golf Centres can now benefit by being able to easily network, all their simulators together. So players can now add their details on to one simulator, with these details being automatically being saved, on to the entire simulator network. As well as being able to resume their previously saved games, on any of the networked simulators. During June the world's first, live tournament feature will be integrated, enabling live games to be played over all the simulators simultaneously. After each hole instead of the scorecard appearing, a live leader board will appear showing all players on all simulators. Using a very professional looking leader board, similar to that is used, by broadcasters on both the PGA and the European Tours. With the GPS Golf Course Library including the highest number of tournaments courses in the world, this will be the ultimate feature.

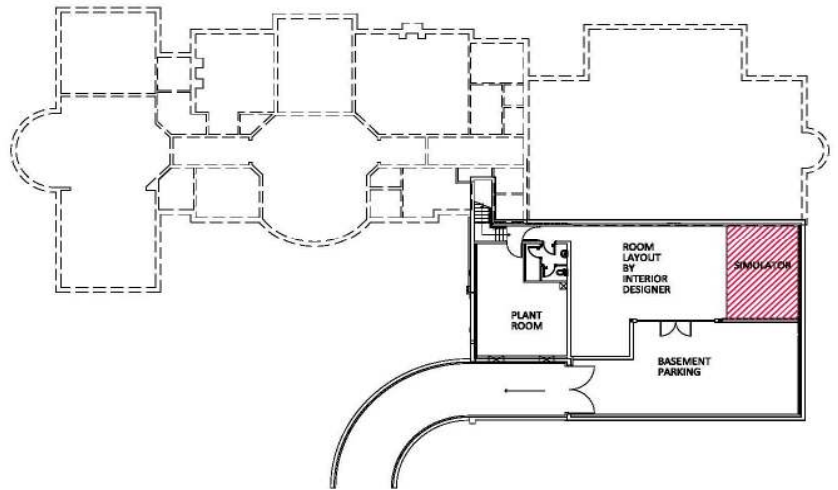

Playing Requirement

Recently a resident of the Wentworth estate, decided that although being a member of the Wentworth Golf Club, is superb. He is frustrated at not being able to play the famous West course, as often as he would ideally like. Due to the constraints of working long hours in the city and then getting home after dark. So he came up with the only solution, that would enable himself to regularly play the course, at any time. He decided to get a golf simulator custom fitted into his home, with an exact reproduction of the West course, itself. With all the recent course alterations, that were remodelled by Ernie Els, incorporated into the course simulation. As well as having the ability to regularly hone his game, improve his course management and be taught by the club's own professional at home. Another goal was to introduce his family, to the game of golf.

Custom Design

So he contacted his own architect and the UK's leading simulator designer Pro Shot Solutions, to turn this wonderful idea into reality. By liaising directly with the two organisations, it was possible to have the ultimate games room, to be custom designed. The games room would need to include a virtual golf simulator, a fully seated cinema and a pool table. With all three areas blending in seamlessly and complementing each other as well as the property. As well as integrating a high speed camera teaching setup, so that he can have his swing performance, fully analysed by the technology.

Construction

Any grand property on the Wentworth estate, requires a very high standard of cosmetic finish, to in keep with the surrounding area. So it was crucial that very high levels of design were replicated, the installation was implemented with minimal delay and disruption. Pro Shot's team more that met these requirements, by installing the unrivalled Sports Coach Simulator, carpeted walls and a high specification projector. Blending in the overall appearance superbly, to create the ultimate games room, installed within budget and on time.

Satisfaction

Now resident and member of Wentworth, has the ultimate solution. During the day he can play the famous West course, with his friends. In the evening or when ever it rains he can invite friends, neighbours and other members, to play the same famous course indoors. His neighbours are more than impressed with this level of entertainment and his own handicap is regularly improving. Due to the fact he now knows the course like the back of his hand, as he has been able to play and practise on a regularly basis.
